

The Golden Door

Yesterday was everything today it really means nothing to me I go out for my last walk and all the things disappear

No worries about the future my history is already written I have to go - And set myself free set myself free

See I am here
and I go
where I have to go
see I am here
and I go
where I have to go
to the golden door

The stars are bright shining only the sun is getting tired I'm ready to start paying my dues there's only one thing left to lose

See I am here
and I go
where I have to go
see I am here
and I go
where I have to go
to the golden door
to the golden door

through the golden door
